

Historical, Multicultural Tucson

By Sandra Guillen

Tucson, the Old Pueblo, is a city with a unique blend of Native American, Spanish, Mexican, and Anglo heritages. Founded as a Spanish presidio in 1775, Tucson has been home to many cultural groups long before the American flag was raised here in 1853, as part of the Gadsden Purchase. Each of these cultures has left its mark on Tucson allowing for the city to retain the charm of its frontier roots. Tucson is located in the Sonoran Desert and is surrounded by four mountain ranges and has plenty of desert sunshine. During your visit here, be sure to explore the historic attractions and natural beauty of Tucson. The following are some suggestions.

San Xavier del Bac Mission stands as a tribute to Tucson's Southwestern heritage. Established in 1700 by Father Eusebio Kino, the "White Dove of the Desert" is a historic mission rising above the cactus and mesquite surrounding the Tohono O'odham reservation. Come see the breathtaking mission and the restoration project taking place there. Other religious landmarks include Tumacacori, Tubac, and the Chapel of San Pedro.

The Arizona-Sonoran Desert Museum is a world-renowned zoo, natural history museum, and botanical garden all in one. This outdoor encounter will allow you to get up close and personal with desert animals and vegetation.

Old Tucson Studios is a family theme park and film studio. Attractions include live shows, trial rides, and a western-history educational program focusing on Arizona's pioneers. Come see the location where over 300 movies and television programs have been made.

For more on Tucson's Sonoran heritage visit Barrio Histórico, located downtown, which includes the mission-style architecture of St. Augustine's Cathedral, built in 1890. Mariachi mass is held at the Cathedral on Sundays at 8:00 a.m. This could be your introduction to the sounds of mariachi music. In fact, Tucson has the largest cultural event and most successful mariachi conference in the United States. Other points of interest in Barrio Histórico include the shrine to El Tiradito, the Sosa-Carrillo-Fremont House, and La Placita Village.

It's no surprise that Tucson has plenty of great weather for recreational activities. The Raven Golf Club, Sheraton El Conquistador, and the Westin La Paloma are a few of the many golf courses and resorts to choose from. Whether hiking, mountain climbing, or simply enjoying a peaceful walk through the desert, outdoor enthusiasts love the opportunities here. Enjoy the scenic views of Sabino Canyon, Mt. Lemmon, Madera Canyon, or the Saguaro National Park. All of these locations are great for the desert naturalist or first time visitor. Another popular outdoor activity is Major League Baseball Spring Training at Tucson Electric Park. Tucson is the home to the Arizona Diamondbacks, Colorado Rockies, and Chicago White Sox.

Tucson is also one of the few places in the country that has bilingual theater. Borderlands Theater will be presenting "Sueño," a production by José Rivera, during the NACCS conference. Show dates are April 5-14, 2001.

Even if you do not make it to any of the above places, make it a point to at least see one sunset while you're here. They really are magnificent. A nice place to see a panoramic view of the sunset is at Gates Pass or on top of 'A' Mountain.

A Professor of English and Chicana/o Studies at Arizona State University, Cordelia Candelaria was born in New Mexico. She earned her Ph.D. at Notre Dame University as a Ford Fellow. Cordelia has been a leader in Chicana literature as a poet and as a professor of literature at various institutions. During her tenure at the University of Colorado at Boulder, she was a NACCS representative, a conference coordinator, and twice a proceedings editor. Cordelia served as the conference coordinator for the 1988 annual meetings in Boulder, Colorado. Along with Mary Romero, Cordelia served as lead editor for two volumes of proceedings, Estudios Chicanos and the Politics of Community and Community

Empowerment and Chicano Scholarship.

In 1986, Cordelia wrote the original resolution that institutionalized the Chicana Caucus after its first year of existence as an ad-hoc committee. In many respects that resolution shaped how future caucuses would become institutionalized in NACCS. The resolution not only established the Chicana Caucus but it also set a structural form for how change in the infrastructure of NACCS takes place.

In 1991 Cordelia left the University of Colorado at Boulder to join the English Department and to assist in the development of the Chicana and Chicano Studies Department at Arizona State University. With her participation and guidance, the department has hired several scholars including Vicki Ruiz, Ed Escobar, Arturo Aldama, and many others. Cordelia has received national and international acclaim as an educator, author, and poet through her involvement with multiculturalism, languages, and literature. Her writing reflects an effective integration of intense, critical studies, academic experience, and her own southwestern heritage which she describes as the "poet's locus of interest." She is the author or editor of eight books and countless book chapters and articles. Her work has been recognized with several awards and honors, and she has mentored numerous graduate and undergraduate students in her decades of teaching Chicana and Chicano Studies.

Chicana lesbian playwright, poet, essayist and teacher, Cherríe Moraga was raised in the San Gabriel Valley. During the late 1970s and early 1980s, she co-founded Kitchen Table: Women of Color Press and began working on an anthology of writings by radical women of color. What began as a thesis project for her master's degree in feminist literature at San Francisco State University became a groundbreaking collection of voices

Statement from the East Coast FOCO

by Michael Hames-García

The NACCS East Coast FOCO was just reactivated two years ago in San Antonio, where I was elected FOCO Representative. Although we have members throughout the east coast region, we have been most active in the state of New York, having our first regional meeting in Binghamton, NY in the fall of 1999, followed by meetings in 2000 in Buffalo and New York City. We will be having our next meeting March 3, 2001 in Ithaca, NY, at Cornell University. Over the past two years, we have discussed a range of issues, but the recurring, interrelated topics with which we hope to deal as a FOCO are the following: 1) the new wave of Mexican immigration to the East Coast and its consequences for Chicana/o identity and political mobilization, 2) the results of the ensuing influx of Mexican and Chicana/o students into the K-12 systems in places such as New York City, 3) the relationship between Chicana/o, Puerto Rican, and Latina/o studies on the East Coast (e.g., how might Chicana/o studies K-12 curricula be adapted to provide a model for instituting Chicana/o, Latina/o, and Caribbean studies in the New York City K-12 system?).

Anyone with questions about or interest in the East Coast FOCO, please contact Michael Hames-García at 607-777-2415 or mhamesg@binghamton.edu.

CENTER FOR MEXICAN AMERICAN STUDIES

University of Houston

VISITING SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Visiting Scholars Program, is designed to generate research about the Latino community and attract scholars who may be interested in assuming a tenured or tenure track position at the University of Houston. Research concerning the Latino community in Houston and the State of Texas is particularly encouraged.

Applications are sought from junior and senior scholars in the Social Sciences, Liberal Arts and Education.

Applications should include:

- 1) A current resume
- 2) Two page description of the proposed research project
- 3) Three letters of recommendation

Applications must be received by April 15 of each year.

GRADUATE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

The Graduate Fellowship Program is designed to recruit outstanding students who have demonstrated interest in the advancement of the Mexican American or Latino community. Preference shall be given to students who plan to conduct research in the area of Mexican American or Latino Studies. It is open to all students who will be entering their first year to pursue an M.A. or Ph.D. in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, Education or Social Work. The recipients are chosen by a committee composed of faculty associated with the Center for Mexican American Studies. Two fellowships of up to $12,000 per year, renewable for a second year, are awarded to students who meet the following criteria:

- 1) The students must be admitted as first year graduate students in the M.A. or Ph.D. program of their choice in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, Education, or Social Work.
- 2) The students must agree to conduct their M.A. thesis or Ph.D. dissertation in an area dealing with Mexican American or Latino Studies.
- 3) The students will not be able to work during the two years of the fellowship award.

Nominations will be accepted through April 30 of each year.

CHICANO/A STUDIES PARADIGMS: A JOURNAL OF ALTERNATE VOICES

Volume One, Number One

Edited by:
Dr. Randall C. Jimenez (SISU)

For any person or institution trying to set up, develop, or maintain a Chicano/a Studies Program or Department, this monograph is a must-have.

CHICANO/A STUDIES PARADIGMS: A JOURNAL OF ALTERNATE VOICES contains detailed histories of some of the oldest Chicano/a Studies Departments and Programs in the nation. It discusses course criteria, discipline structure and pitfalls common to Chicano/a Studies across the country.

This manual sets forth working solutions to many of these frequent problems. It even looks into how to name the program and why that is important. This book will show you how to develop a Chicano/a Studies program that is not a political step-child trying to look academic.

Those who do not take the time to read and implement many of the suggestions and concepts in this book are destined to be part of a society that continues to only pay lip service to the needs of the Chicano/a communities.

Those who do take the time to study the contents of this book will be able to instruct and incorporate a balanced individual as a full integral member of the United States. These young ambassadors become cross cultural bridges to the rest of the Americas. ISBN:0-9681163-4-0
