Newsletter of the National Association for Chicano Studies

Vol. 7, No. 1

Chicano Studies Research Center, UCLA

October 1988

Theme and Goals of Conference

The single most important goal guiding the creation of the National Association for Chicano Studies was to promote research and other activities that could contribute and respond to the struggles being carried out in the broader Chicano community. This premise is clearly embodied in the Association's Preamble which states that NACS arose "to encourage a type of research which it felt could play a key part in the political actualization of the total Chicano community" and calls for research that is "committed, critical and rigorous." However, most of us in Chicano Studies work in institutional settings that present serious obstacles to the realization of this objective. And there are few arenas for studying, discussing and debating how best to promote this vision. Thus this year's site committee has decided to make this issue the major focus of the 1989 NACS national conference. The theme is Community Empowerment and Chicano Scholarship: Towards Social Justice in the 21st Century and we are calling for panels, papers and roundtables that generally address this concern. While we want to emphasize this issue, the conference format is such that we also want to encourage proposals on other topics. The site committee is also making an effort this year to incorporate representatives from the professions, particularly in the areas of education, law, planning, community organizing and health.

Call For Papers

We invite those NACS members who wish to present at the 1989 meetings to send in their proposals for panels, workshops, roundtables and papers to:

NACS Program Committee
Chicano Studies Research Center
University of California
3121 Campbell Hall
Los Angeles, CA 90024

Proposals for panels, workshops and roundtables should provide a brief description of the topic being suggested, the names and affiliation of the participants and the title, or at least the topic, of the individual presentations. Proposals for papers should provide a tentative title and a brief description and/or outline of the essay. The deadline for submission of these proposals is January 15th, 1989.

Film Series

A mini-film festival featuring work which conveys the Chicano/Latino experience and the struggle for social justice is being planned. We are calling for submission of films and/or filmographies that complement our theme. Names of films/filmographies may be submitted to Mary Pardo, CSUN, 18111 Nordhoff Blvd, Northridge, CA 91330

National Association for Chicano Studies

(NACS) XVII Annual Conference

March 29-April 1, 1989

Pre-Conference Invitation and Registration

The NACS XVII Site Committee invites you to attend the XVII Annual Conference of the National Association for Chicano Studies to be held in Los Angeles on March 29-April 1, 1989. Our NACS XVII Conference theme is "Community Empowerment and Chicano Scholarship"

The purpose of the conference is to present a program which addresses topics, issues, and problems relating to the Chicano community. Emphasis is placed on current research, policy implications, and the exploration of relevant theories. NACS XVII offers those attending a rich array of workshops, resource persons, book and material exhibits, arts and cultural events as well as the organization's business meeting.

Consisting of NACS members and supporters from Southern California the Site Committee promises a warm welcome to the hundreds who will be attending the Conference.

Hotel Accommodations

All concurrent sessions and plenaries will take place at the Biltmore Hotel (506 Grand Ave., Los Angeles CA; TEL. 213/624-1011)

Paper/Panel Workshop Presentors

All presentors must be both members of NACS and registered for the Conference. Because home regions and focos receive rebates from members who pay their annual membership dues before the conference, you are encouraged to pre-register and help subsidize your foco's costs.

As announced deadlines for ALL presentations is January 15, 1989. We cannot guarantee a time slot for any abstracts or papers received after the deadline. To assure a slot and that your name and presentation title appear in the final program, your abstract/paper must be postmarked January 15, 1989.

Undergraduate Student Participation In NACS

A subcommittee consisting of undergraduate students is developing its proposal for increasing student participation in both the NACS national conference and in the activities of the local Focos. Since most of the students are not members of the Association and are therefore not on the mailing list for the newsletter, we are requesting that you circulate this call for student contacts and student papers to the appropriate organizations on your campus. Those wishing to participate in the student plenary, to present papers, ideas for workshops, etc., should contact the chair of the subcommittee as follows: Graciela Vasquez, 407 Kerckhoff Hall, University of California, Los Angeles, CA 90024

PAC Resolutions and Regional Workshops

The last NACS newsletter published all the resolutions except one adopted by the general body at the business meeting during the 1988 NACS meetings in Boulder. Since the resolution on the proposal submitted by the Political Action Committee was omitted we are including below it below. We were also asked to remind all the regions that the general body approved the proposal that each region would hold a miniconference/workshop to discuss the recommendations listed below and would report on those at the 1989 conference in Los Angeles. In order to facilitate that session, PAC is requesting that a 1-2 page report on the regional sessions be submitted to the Site Committee by March 1, 1989.

NACS PAC Action Resolution of Regional Reports as Adopted in the General Assembly:

NACS Structural Issues:

- › NACS to take on union activities (for tenure issue)
- › Establish NACS Speakers Bureau
- › Re-establishing Focos on local basis
- › Integration of other organizations and non-academic individuals
- › Survey of membership resources
- › Integration of students
- › Develop a committee for endowment fund
- › Form opinion-editorial groups in NACS
- › Change preamble to include students
- › Change preamble to include gender
- › Change preamble to include Third World
- › Identify mechanisms needed to insure national conferences include local issues
- › Review status of Chicano Studies departments (consider possible legal suits)

Research Oriented Issues:

- › Technical assistance for proposal writing for community
- › Survey of NACS members
- › Training sessions in activist scholarship for NACS
- › Dissemination of research through press releases and media such as radio and t.v. shows
- › Regional mini-conference to focus on recommendations of this conference
- › NACS should co-sponsor community and Chicano Studies forums
- › NACS to write history of Chicano scholarship
- › Develop a NACS journal
- › Review the relationship of NACS to Chicano Studies departments

Student-Youth Related Issues:

- › Chicano student status report
- › Develop students to participate in the community
- › Focos to assist formation of Chicano Studies groups in high schools
- › Create network to support Chicano/Chicana graduate students
- › Scholarships to send Chicano/Chicana students to Europe and Geneva Human Rights Commission
- › Sponsor Workshops for Youth

Regional-National Politics:

- › Opposition to English-Only and proactive stance to push amendment to state constitutions for multilingual, multicultural society
- › Causes of high school dropouts
- › Barriers to working women
- › Include community activists in plenary sessions of NACS conferences

Community Related Issues:

- › Community Surveys
- › Summer workshops for training community members in research techniques

PROPOSAL TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

- › Each region hold a Fall Mini-Conference to discuss how these recommendations could be implemented and should be prioritized to take to the National Conference
- › The above recommendations should be taken by site committee for input on panels and plenary session
- › That there be a PAC general assembly at NACS 17
- › Membership of PAC is proposed as 3 elected representatives from each Foco (one male, one female, one student) with regions to take responsibility to pay for student representative to attend PAC meetings

Call for Proposals to Establish a NACS National Office

The NACS national body approved at the 1988 annual meetings, the establishment of a national office. Proposals are now being solicited from regions wishing to house the national office.

The guidelines for such proposals follow are:

- › The national office shall be attached to a Chicano Studies program, academic department, research center, or similar unit.
- › The national office will be administered by an office manager who will keep the office open a minimum of 20 hours per week each normal working week of the academic year.
- › The purpose and responsibilities shall be to promote the goals of the association and include but are not restricted to the following:
 - a) maintain the NACS membership list
 - b) develop and implement an on-going membership drive
 - c) prepare and distribute the NACS newsletter
 - d) receive and distribute the NACS proceedings
 - e) assist the NACS coordinating, site, editorial and any ad ho committees as needed
 - f) prepare and distribute a NACS brochure
- › The national office will report directly to the Coordinating Committee and will provide semi-annual reports to that body. Routine supervision of the office will be the responsibility of the General Coordinator of the Coordinating Committee in conjunction with a local NACS member to be proposed by the host institution and approved by the Coordinating Committee.

- › The Coordinating Committee will conduct a thorough review of the national office at least every three years.
- › The Coordinating Committee will reserve the right to propose to the membership that the site of the national office be relocated should the need arise.
- › Proposals should cover a minimum of a three year period.
- › The Coordinating Committee will review each proposal and make a recommendation to the membership which will make the final decision.
- › Upon selection of a national office site, the Coordinating Committee will appoint an ad hoc committee to develop a fund raising plan to establish an endowment for the office.
- › All proposals should be sent to the National Coordinator, Tatcho Mindiola, Jr., General Coordinator, National Association for Chicano Studies, University of Houston, 323 Agnes Arnold Hall, 4800 Calhoun, Houston, TX 77004. (713) 749-7386

Proposals for the 1990 and 1991 Conference Site

Proposals are being solicited for the 1989 and 1990 Conference Site. Regions of Focos wishing to host the NACS Conference in either year should send a letter of intent to the NACS Coordinating Committee. Since Focos and regions wishing to host the conference rely on universities for financial assistance, the letter of intent should include an attached statement from the appropriate university of official declaring such support. Send proposals by January 15, 1989 to: Tatcho Mindiola, Jr., General Coordinator, National Association for Chicano Studies, University of Houston, 323 Agnes Arnold Hall, 4800 Calhoun, Houston, TX 77004. (713) 749-7386

General Guidelines for Proposals to Host the NACS National Conferences

Any and all proposals submitted to the National Association for Chicano Studies (NACS) should meet the following criteria. The proposals will be considered by the NACS Coordinating Committee and then be submitted to a vote of the Association's membership at the annual business meeting.

The proposal to sponsor the annual meeting should indicate in writing the willingness and commitment of the institution(s) and/or community organization(s) to undertake said task. This letter must come from the program, department, agency or institution which is accepting responsibility for planning, organizing, coordinating and conducting the conference. While great latitude is afforded in planning, organizing, coordinating, financing and conducting the conference, the site committee must recognize, accept and be bound by the NACS constitution, by laws and policy. The local site committee can expect the full cooperation of the NACS coordinating committee. The local site committee and conference coordinator are responsible for generating and meeting all conference expenses. Very limited financial support is offered by NACS.

All proposals should be sent to the current chairperson of the NACS Coordinating Committee.

The letter requesting sponsorship of the site should indicate the following:

- › The university or community organization's interest and commitment to holding the conference with appropriate letters of support from institutional officials such as the President, Dean, Board of Directors, etc.
- › The ability to plan, organize, coordinate, finance and conduct said conference. This includes faculty, staff, graduate and undergraduate students to be involved or who have expressed willingness to work with the local site planning committee. (Focos, local faculty, student and community organizations, etc.)
- › The site committee should briefly describe the feasibility of housing and travel accommodations. Access, cost and scheduling details should be adequately discussed.
- › The ability to finance the sponsorship of annual meeting. Past conference sites have obtained letters from appropriate officials offering tentative support. The budget should include the costs of facilities, printing, mailing, supportive services, etc. It is suggested that one speak to past conference coordinators concerning the costs entailed in sponsoring the national conference.
- › Also to be addressed should be points of interest concerning the site (which highlight the positive, unique, etc.) and any other factors that may be deemed important.
- › As closely as possible include the dates and description of facilities to be used and their proximity to housing, airports and related activities important to the proposed conference.
- › All proposals, as well as any questions related to these guidelines should be directed to the General Coordinator Tacho Mindiola Jr.
- › The deadline for submitting completed proposals will be announced far enough in advance to give ample opportunity for person(s) or organization(s) wishing to submit such a proposal.

Rebate Report

Prepared by Ramon D. Chacon, Treasurer

Rebates paid to regions: The rebates are based on those individuals who renewed their membership or became new members of NACS prior to the Association's annual conference held in Colorado in April 1988. Rebates are based on that membership and does not include those who registered for the conference only. Each region receives a $5 rebate for each renewed or new membership.

Regions:	No. Pre-Reg.	Amount Received
Northern California	34	$170
Southern California	38	$190
Colorado	29	$145
Midwest	21	$105
Texas	14	$70
Rocky Mountain	19	$95

Nomination for NACS Scholar

Nominations are being accepted for the NACS Scholar. The NACS Scholar should be an individual who has made a significant scholarly contribution to Chicano Studies. According to the NACS bylaws, the specific criteria to be used in recognizing a scholar are as follows:

- › a scholar's personal history of involvement in the development of Chicano Studies literature or as a discipline; and
- › his/her significant contributions to scholarly research and writing on the Mexican population in the United States.

Nominations for such an award should come from individual Focos or the Conference Site Committee. Such nominations should include an explanation of the appropriateness of such recognition. The person selected as the NACS Scholar will be recognized as such at the 1989 NACS Conference in Los Angeles, California. The Association will defray the scholar's expenses to attend the conference. The scholar shall be made a life-time member of the Association with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities of a member. The scholar will be invited to address the NACS membership at the conference on a topic of his or her choice. Nominations should be sent to the NACS General Coordinator, Tacho Miniola Jr., no later than January 15, 1989.

NACS Student Premio Competition

The National Association for Chicano Studies announces its annual Frederick Cervantez Undergraduate and Graduate Student Premio Competition. A one hundred fifty dollar prize plus consideration for publication in the annual conference proceedings are awarded to the best undergraduate and graduate student papers. Papers will be judged on originality, content, and mechanics.

Competition Requirements:

- › Participants must be enrolled at an institution of higher education and be members of NACS. To join the association write to Professor Ramon Chacon, Department of History, Santa Clara University, Santa Clara, CA 95119.
- › All papers must focus on a Chicano Studies topic and seek to contribute to the development of Chicano Studies as an interdisciplinary area of study.
- › Three copies of each paper are required. Papers should follow well-accepted guidelines of term papers, and should be fully referenced, typed and double spaced. Papers should be 12 to 25 pages in length.
- › Each paper should have a title page with full name, address, institutional affiliation and telephone number. Each paper should be clearly marked GRADUATE OR UNDERGRADUATE. Lack of clear identification of competition category will disqualify the paper from the competition.
- › The title should appear on the title page and again on the first page of the paper. The author's name should not be repeated on the first page.

- › Papers should be postmarked no later than February 1, 1989. Late papers will not be accepted.
- › Students are encouraged to present their papers at the NACS XVII Annual Conference, March 29-April 1, 1989, Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, CA.

Send three copies to: Professor Ruben Martinez, Department of Sociology, University of Colorado at Colorado Springs Colorado Springs, Colorado 80933. Telephone no.: (719) 593-3169

Midwest Regional Conference

The Midwest Regional Foco held a successful conference at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle on October 14th and 15th. The title of the meetings was Sin Fronteras: Reclaiming Our Past To Forge Our Communities Future and focused on bringing academics and community activists together to address a broad spectrum of policy related and cultural issues. The site committee chair, Teresa Cordova Acosta from UIC, spearheaded the effort and we congratulate her efforts to promote NACS. We also want to congratulate her and her husband Miguel on the birth of their son, Jose Miguel Acosta two weeks prior to the meetings. As Teresa indicated throughout the conference, its success was the result of a collective effort by members of the site committee and affiliates, which included faculty, staff and students from UIC, as well as representatives from community organizations such as Latino Youth, Instituto del Progreso Latino, Casa Aztlan, and Mujeres Latinas en Accion.

Somewhere between 250 and 300 people attended the meetings and came from throughout the Midwest, including strong representation from Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Michigan. There were also people from as far as Massachusetts, Colorado and California who participated as well. Conference highlights included a keynote address by historian-activist Rudy Acuna from Chicano Studies at Cal State, Northridge who reviewed some of the problems encountered in trying to link Chicano Studies in the university to community issues and struggles. Bert Corona, from Hermandad Mexicana Nacional, delivered a keynote address reviewing his fifty years of activism and was presented with an award for his many contributions to organizing in the Chicano community.

Northern California Regional Conference

The NACS Northern California Region will hold its 8th annual conference beginning at 9:00 am, Saturday, December 3rd, at California State University, Sacramento. The conference theme is The Chicano Community after the 1980's - Decade of the Hispanics? Sessions will address the issues raised in the PAC resolutions adopted at the Boulder meeting. One plenary session will be devoted to political action issues and a second will focus on the issue of student recruitment and retention. The latter is being organized by the local MEChA's. Faculty Position: Division of Education

The Division of Education at the University of California, Davis campus, is seeking nominations and applications for a tenure track faculty position. The position will be a 9 month appointment at the assistant, associate or full professor level. Starting date is July 1, 1989.

Qualifications: Applicants should have a Ph.D. and a promising record of empirical research. The applicant's research should be informed by theories and methods from the field of cognitive science, that is, theories of how information is attended to, encoded, transformed, organized, stored, and retrieved as people perform intellectual tasks such as comprehending information, learning information, solving problems, or composing text. The research should reflect sophistication in the design of empirical studies. In addition, the research should be aimed at improving school learning and instruction in one of the following three areas: English composition, mathematics education, or science education. The best qualified candidate from one of these areas will be selected. While the position could be filled by a candidate whose research is focused on curriculum in the middle grades it is important that the candidate be familiar with the high school curriculum in her/his area of specialization and ideally have taught at the high school level. Preference will be given to candidates whose previous or planned research is conducted in the field settings under realistic conditions and with natural rather than contrived learned materials. Preference will be given to candidates whose research is aimed at developing and testing improved teaching methods rather than simply describing and analyzing learning problems.

An acceptable program of research would be indicated at the assistant professor level by a promising dissertation and one or more publications in refereed journals, and at the associate and full professor levels by an extended record of significant publications.

Duties: The appointee will be expected to (1) establish a nationally recognized program of empirical research, (2) develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, (3) supervise the research of graduate students, (4) teach and provide intellectual leadership in a professional program of teacher preparation, and (5) participate in department and university activities and public service. Salary will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Applicants should provide a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching interests and experience, a curriculum vita, and selected publications. They should supply the names of three references from whom letters of recommendation can be solicited by the committee. Nomination and application materials should be sent to Dr. Linnea Ehri, Search Committee, Department of Education, University of California, Davis, CA 95616. Closing date: December 1, 1988.
